

The investigator

"I win by participating"

The Mystery Grand Prize Revealed:

A Wii console and Wii Balance Board from Nintendo!!!

PARTICIPATE IN OUR NEXT ROUND OF DATA COLLECTION AND YOU CAN WIN THE GRAND PRIZE OR CHOOSE AMONG THE FOLLOWING PRIZES:

The latest iPod nano, the entire HARRY POTTER film collection,
The complete comic book series of "LES NOMBRILS",
A NINTENDO DS and a game of your choice

By participating you will be automatically entered in the draw which will be held on June 21, 2010. Prizes will be awarded in a random draw of all the participants in the 2010 round of the survey.

Did you know...

... once your questionnaire has been filled out, your anonymity is completely protected?

Answers are extracted from the questionnaires and compiled into the survey databank. The researchers therefore work on anonymous data, with no idea of your name or address or any other thing that can identify you. You can therefore answer all the questions exactly how you feel and think, with no worry about your answers being linked to you personally, OK?

Would you like to learn more about the researchers behind "I am, I'll be"?

We would like to introduce you to Richard E. Tremblay, founding researcher of the QLSCD.

Did you know that at your age, he had no idea that one day he would become a psychologist, then a researcher? His dream was to become a professional football or hockey player. It was later on that he discovered he had a passion for research. Richard says that anyone can become a researcher. "Me, a researcher?" you might say to yourself. Think about it. Ever since you were born you have been constantly trying to understand the world around you. Richard has also been doing this – trying to gain a better understanding of the youth of your generation. How does he do it? Well, by analyzing the answers to the questionnaires! His dream is to ensure that research is used to help young people live happy and healthy lives.

Want to learn more about Richard? Check out his bio on our website at www.jesuisjeserai.stat.gouv.qc.ca/default_an.htm.

happy educated active healthy

I AM,
I'LL BE

